Headline:
Frosty start today, then cold but dry and mainly sunny.

Today:
Starting with a widespread frost, and icy stretches likely on untreated surfaces, leading to a dry and largely sunny day with light winds. Feeling cold, with frost and ice lingering in shaded areas. Maximum temperature 3 deg C (37 deg F).

Tonight:
Clear spells at first, with temperatures quickly falling and a widespread frost developing, with a risk of ice on untreated surfaces. Then becoming cloudy overnight, with patchy rain arriving later. Minimum temperature -2 deg C (28 deg F).

Sunday:
Cloudy across the Pennines with hill fog and outbreaks of light rain and drizzle. Elsewhere gradually becoming dry, with perhaps some bright spells developing. Breezy and less cold everywhere. Maximum temperature 6 deg C (43 deg F).

Outlook for Monday to Wednesday:
Cloudy, milder and windy for Monday, with persistent rain across the Pennines, and patchy rain elsewhere. Tuesday and Wednesday cloudy with spells of rain likely, and possibly hill snow.
